Making Montana PROUD

Know who you are and where you come from. Don't just be good but do good. Whether that's something you love or something beneficial to your community or the planet. Make sure your education continues outside of the classroom - there's so much more to be learned than what is covered in an academic setting. My advice to Montana students, is to surround yourself with good people, and if you don't have any, go and seek them out.
