

WHAT?

The Montana School Computer program, managed by OPI, gathers computer equipment from state and federal agencies, as well as private donations, and provides it at no cost to Montana's K-12 public schools.

HOW?

The inventory of surplus equipment varies from day to day. The program keeps a waiting list of schools interested in receiving equipment and contacts them when they become eligible. To learn more or check current equipment availability, please contact OPI.

WHERE?

Schools are responsible for traveling to Clancy, MT to retrieve equipment and must have an appointment.
